Students oppose tuition increase

By SUSANNE SIGNAIGO-WEICH
Staff writer

GRANITE CITY — A recommended tuition increase at Belleville Area College is being opposed by students who fear the measure may cause some to drop out of classes.

"I don't know of any student that wants an increase in tuition," said Susanne Briggs, the student member of the board of trustees. "I think the voice of the students should be heard on this."

Briggs said she plans to vote against the increase, although her vote is considered advisory.

THE BAC BOARD's finance committee unanimously recommended Wednesday that tuition be increased from $25 to $27 per credit hour. The board of trustees is expected to vote on the recommendation this Wednesday.

Board members said declining enrollment at the community college was causing them to opt for an increase.

Briggs said she plans to inform as

Repairs proposed for GC campus

GRANITE CITY — A recommendation has not been made on $6.29 million in repairs proposed for Granite City Campus.

Susanne Briggs, student member of the Belleville Area College Board of Trustees, said the trustees are considering how much money they want to spend.

"THEY REALIZE the repairs need to be made," she said.

many students as possible about the potential tuition raise, and encourage them to "let the board know how they feel." She said students may contact the chancellor's secretary to get on the agenda and speak at the meeting.

"A good representation might have some effect on the outcome," she said. "Tuition has been raised almost every year."

LOCALLY, students at the Granite City Campus are watching

the board's action.

Winnie Canham of Wood River, a freshman student in the medical assistant program, said the increase would have a bad effect on her career plans.

"I'd have to drop out and work full-time for a while to save up some money," she said. "I'm not getting financial aid to help me out — that's being cut back."

Canham said the increase would be larger for her since she is an out-of-district student and pays higher tuition fees.

"THOSE RATES would be raised even more," she said. "I'd go to another school, but the program is not offered in my district (Lewis and Clark)."

Bob Smith of Granite City said he would not be affected by the increase since his schooling is paid for under the G. I. Bill.

"An increase really wouldn't affect me but I don't know what that would mean for other students," he said. "It might cause a hardship on them."

A 6 PERCENT tuition increase has been proposed for the Southern Illinois University system. A vote on the proposal is set for the March 13 meeting of the SIU board.

Since 1973, tuition and fees at SIUE and SIUC have increased 120.6 percent and 159 percent, respectively, as compared to a 165.6 percent increase for all public universities in Illinois and a 208.5 percent rise at nonpublic universities.

Area teachers oppose merit pay proposals

By BILL MILLIGAN
Staff writer

GRANITE CITY — Should teachers' unions deal with the content and composition of educational programs they implement, or should they confine their energy to salary negotiation?

That question is the subject of the lead article in the latest issue of Local Logic, the monthly newsletter published by the Granite City Federation of Teachers.

The article, written by Albert Shanker, president of the American Federation of Teachers, offered an alternative to merit pay for teachers, the subject of a growing number of proposals.

SOME STATES, such as Tennessee, have already implemented merit pay systems that reward teachers who qualify. For qualification, specific guidelines are established to determine excellence in classroom performance.

Tennessee's program, recently came under fire when two of the finalists in the National Aeronautics and Space Administration's nationwide "Teacher in Space" program, both from Tennessee, failed to qualify for merit pay under that state's guidelines. Russ Chappell said he is president of Granite City Teachers Local 743.

Shanker's article is any indication, teacher unions generally are strongly against merit pay.

"THE CRITERIA are too subjective," said Chappell. "I don't think uniformism and merit pay will ever mesh."

Chappell is in his first year as president of Local 743. He replaced Shirley Stoll, who had been president for 12 years.

"There are new things happening in education," Chappell said. "I want our membership to be aware that education is under the microscope. The public wants teachers to be accountable."

Teachers want input into the system as a whole, Chappell said.

"WHO IS BETTER qualified to recommend improvements in our schools than school teachers?" he asked.

Chappell would prefer to see the school administration adopt incentives that would encourage teachers to improve themselves.

Chappell cited the current school board policy on teacher absenteeism as an example.

LOCAL 743 teachers could qualify for as much as $291 each at the end of this school year. If teacher absenteeism is reduced, that agreement was part of a wage settlement between the board and teachers adopted Dec. 17.

According to figures released two weeks ago by school administrators, absenteeism during January declined 54 percent. District 9 had 470 (See PAY, Page 9A)

Madison plans new banners to enhance business' appeal

By DONNA KIMBRO
Staff writer

MADISON — New banners designed to enhance the business district along Madison Avenue from Third to 14th streets will be displayed on each light post, members of the Businessmen's Association agreed Tuesday night.

White letters noting "The Right Time" will be inscribed at the top of the bright green banner. Below a centered collage will be "The Right Place - Madison."

They will be 72x32 inches and will cost $75 each.

RAY EDWARDS, president, welcomed 24 members and announced the plan for displaying the banners is to call area residents' attention to Madison retail offerings.

Those driving by will be encouraged to stop in Madison to shop and visit a variety of business places and restaurants.

The banners will be ready about the middle of March and, weather permitting, will be attached to posts soon afterward by employees of the city.

POSTERS THAT MATCH the banners may be purchased for $1.65 to be exhibited in store windows and all business places, the president said.

During a previous meeting, the association agreed to purchase three jackets at a cost of $80 each for members of the Madison auxiliary police.

TWO NEW MEMBERS, Supreme Service and Whiteway Barber Shop, have been accepted, Edwards said. He also announced 23 new businesses have opened in Madison since May 1985.

Alan Orbital, city coordinator of Granite City, gave a slide presentation on downtown Granite City. He noted where improvements are planned to create a mall and provide other improvements and facilities in the central business district.

TEDIOUS WORK is being done by the crane and the worker on the rooftop of First Christian Church, 2904 Maryville Road, as they set a new fiberglass steeple in place. Donations from the congregation provided the funds to purchase the steeple, which is topped with a cross. Jerry Britt is the pastor of the church.

First Christian Church erects new steeple

By DONNA KIMBRO
Staff writer

A new steeple was hoisted by a crane and put into place atop the First Christian Church, 2904 Maryville Road, last week.

"It is more than just a piece of fiberglass. It represents sacrificial giving by the congregation and a desire to be visible and available to the public," the pastor, the Rev. Jerry Britt, said.

"THIS GIVING by the members began when the church was established in 1957, and was emphasized a year ago when the church paid off its debt and increased its missions donations by over 500 percent," he said.

"The church regularly sends gifts to Gilbert Jules, a native missionary to Haiti. These contributions represent more than 20 percent of his total support."

"After our reaching out in missions, it was decided to increase our reaching out in Granite City."

"BESIDES THE NEW steeple to help our building look like a church, we have acquired a van to transport church people, and we have expanded our overflowing parking lot."

The pastor added, "Often, when our church is mentioned in conversation around town, we have to tell people where we are located in relation to another one of the nine churches on Maryville Road."

"In an attempt to become a visible church ourselves, we have constructed a new lighted sign, made entirely by our members' labor, and opened our building to a community organization, TOPS (Take Off Pounds Sensibly), that meets here every Monday night."

"Area residents are invited to visit the church and attend our services."

Remembers Reagan speeches

Mister President, Sir... In 1964—20-plus years ago—you were campaigning for Sen. Goldwater for President.

A few days before the election, you made a speech which came to be known as "the catsup speech" because it referred to a canner's dispute that was going on at the time.

Mostly it was "vintage Reagan" seeking to rally support for candidate Goldwater.

Essentially, it espoused the same theme of "big people as opposed to big government" that your speeches include to this day.

Though your candidate did not get elected, your speech doubtless impressed many people. One that I know of.

A few days later in Sunnyvale, Calif., a dentist stood in the voting booth still pondering for whom to vote.

He was a registered Republican but he was undecided.

Then remembering "the catsup

speech" he wrote in a name that was not on the ballot, yours.

Now, Mister President, this was three years before you were first elected governor of California that somebody voted for you for President of the United States.

That election night you and Mrs. Reagan were at home in Malibu watching election returns when suddenly you were startled to hear, "And one vote for Ronald Reagan."

You and Nancy, then and since, have wondered who in the world wrote in that night's election returns. Who was responsible for that "one vote for Ronald Reagan"?

I'm going to tell you.

The man who preferred you over either Goldwater or Johnson was a dental doctor who later became active in the California Dental Association, served on its board of trustees. And one day he became president—of the California Dental Association.

His allegiance to you remained steadfast. He supported you for governor of California. When you ran for a second term, he and his brother, Bob, co-chaired a statewide committee of dentists supporting your candidacy.

You were with him frequently in those days—on a first-name basis—yet he never told you what has come to be known as THE REST OF THE STORY.

The man who wanted you for President 16 years before your name was ever on that ballot.

Was Dr. Neil Smithwick. He is still a dentist. He is still in Sunnyvale. And he tells me he is prepared to vote for you NEXT TIME, TOO!

Marcos blanks Aquino in San Nicolas

One of the most miraculous political victories in modern times took place last week in San Nicolas, the hometown of Philippine President Ferdinand Marcos.

Marcos received 13,643 votes and his opponent, Mrs. Corazon Aquino, got 0. There has never been an election consensus like it in the Free World.

I called Manila and congratulated one of Marcos' campaign managers for the outstanding job his people did in San Nicolas.

"We were hoping to have a larger turnout to add to our plurality."

"How can you be sure if you'd had a larger turnout the voters would have gone for Marcos?"

"No one can be sure of anything in a Filipino election; you just hope for the best."

Weren't you surprised that not one voter in San Nicolas cast a ballot for Mrs. Aquino?"

"We had a gut feeling it might happen. Marcos ran an awfully good campaign, promising the people jobs and housing, jobs and a discount on office space in any building Mrs. Marcos owns in New York City."

There are some people in the United States, and I'm not one of them, who insist there must have been at least token opposition to the President. They can't believe the turnout for Aquino.

Art Buchwald

"There was opposition to the President. You can't have a democracy without opposition. Many people in San Nicolas wanted to vote for Mrs. Aquino."

"Why didn't they?"

"They couldn't get out of their homes."

"Why not?"

"Because the army had surrounded them to protect them from the supporters of Marcos. Our main objective in the election was to save lives. I will tell you about one man in San Nicolas. His name is Juan, and he was mad at Marcos because someone had put his father and mother in jail. So he said he was going to go to the polls and cast a ballot for Aquino."

"We said very politely, 'Juan, don't be a troublemaker. Mrs. Aquino has no experience. Only Marcos can get your mother and father out of jail.'"

"But he said he would still vote for Aquino. So when he dropped his ballot in the box, we fished it out and tore it up and made him eat it.

Then when Juan tried to vote again, we arrested him for voting twice in a presidential election. Now Juan is with his mother and father in jail.

President Marcos believes in keeping the family together."

"It's fortunate you stopped Juan. Otherwise Mrs. Aquino would have received one vote in San Nicolas."

"He would have never slipped by us. Our poll watchers are too good. San Nicolas is very dear to President Marcos' heart, and it would be terrible for him if the outside world saw that there were people in his hometown who did not want him to serve again."

"Did you prevent many people from voting by force?"

"Not many. It was easier to buy their votes. We have a hospital and orphanage fund just for the elections. It's the first lady's pet charity."

"Then I assume you are satisfied with the results in San Nicolas?"

"You are never satisfied in an election. We know we could have done better."

"If you could sum it up, what made Marcos win so handily in San Nicolas?"

"Charisma."

Appreciates progress at St. Elizabeth

To the Editor:

It is with great joy that I recall the years of 1955 to 1960, when as a young priest I was sent by Bishop William O'Connell of Springfield to serve St. Joseph Parish in Granite City.

In addition to my duties as parish priest, I was given an additional assignment as chaplain of the Granite City Engineer Depot and St. Elizabeth Hospital.

Way back then, Leonard Davis was mayor of Granite City. Father Jordan was pastor of St. Joseph Church and Father Costello was pastor of Sacred Heart Church.

The plants among the physicians in the community were Dr. Otto Bauer, Dr. Gresik and Dr. Joseph Koch. The health care service was provided by the staff of St. Elizabeth Hospital on Madison Avenue. The building was so small that you could hardly notice it as you watched the Neidringhaus and Madison Avenue lights change.

The beautiful sisters who served the hospital then were Sister Amanda, Sister Bonaventure, Sister Frances, Sister Mary Williams and Sister Mary Thomas. I thank the Lord that some of them are still serving the hospital and this community.

After so many years of absence, I checked in the hospital for my physical and the very first person that I spoke to in the admittance office was a nurse who asked me: "What are you here for, Father?"

"I came here to have my head examined," I responded. "Oh! We can do it here from head to toe" was her response.

And for the next five days they did just that.

I was amazed what years have done and what changes have taken place at the hospital. This community must be very proud of its accomplishments.

This institution stands second to none in health care service.

As I leave St. Elizabeth Medical Center, I am thankful to the administration, Dr. Felicia Koch and her staff doctors, the sisters and the nurses on the third floor for their dedicated service to me and to all who are ill and in need of their service.

A job well done, and may the Lord reward all of you for your service. REV. A. J. TAMULIS

Urban League begins construction training

A new training and job placement service was launched by the Madison County Urban League this month, aimed at placing minorities and women in construction jobs.

Officials said one goal of the project is to keep minority employment on road-building projects at a federally mandated target level of about 14 percent for this area.

"It is always a struggle" to keep minority employment at that level because of seasonal employment and high turnover, according to John Fritsche, equal employment opportunity labor compliance representative for District 8 of the Illinois Department of Transportation.

The program is called the Road Builders Service Project (RBSPP). It was established in 1972 but this is the first time a field office has been established in this area.

The project is funded by the Illinois Department of Transportation and the Federal Highway Administration through a grant to the Urban League.

Willie Lawson of the RBSPP said he will set up a field office at the Madison County Urban League office in Alton and can start taking applications immediately.

Lawson and Bill Fisher, RBSPP project director, said although there is a high turnover in the industry, "there is no guarantee of a job."

Mel Turley, a representative of the U.S. Bureau of Apprenticeship and Training, called entry into the construction field "highly competitive," with only five percent of applicants receiving jobs in some fields.

About 60 people have already entered the program.

Lawson and Fisher pointed out the program requires a strong commitment on the part of prospects interested in a career in the construction industry.

Lawson said the training and apprenticeship program can take up to four years.

He said the basic system of RBSPP is to link minority and women prospects with contractors who need to meet the requirements, and to link contractors with people who need work.

He said although the primary goal is to increase minority and female levels of employment, the project can assist "anyone who walks in the door."

Car license plates, renewal stickers available at banks

New, larger renewal stickers for 1987 and new passenger car license plates are now being sold over the counter at more than 1,550 financial institutions throughout Illinois, Secretary of State Jim Edgar has announced.

Sales sites include two First Granite City National Bank locations, two Central Bank of Granite City sites, the First National Bank in Madison, and the American Heritage Bank of Granite City.

"THE NEW STICKERS are twice the size of the present stickers," Edgar said, "making them easier to read and more identifiable for police officers."

"In addition, owners of 1.7 million automobiles with plates beginning with the letters N through Z receive newly-designed plates this year, marking the end of the three-year replating program for all 5.6 million cars in Illinois."

The new stickers, measuring one inch by three inches, is royal blue and should be placed in the designated area at the bottom of the rear plate.

"IF YOU ARE receiving new plates this year and want the same number, your application should be processed at a financial institution, a Secretary of State facility or by mail as soon as possible," Edgar said.

This year, 93 banks, savings and loan associations and credit unions were added to the license plate renewal program. In 1985, financial institutions sold over 2.5 million stickers and plates.

Election '86

February 19, 1986 — GRANITE CITY JOURNAL

Sheriff's primary

Robert Astorian

A restructuring of the Madison County Sheriff's Department is planned by Bob Astorian, a candidate for sheriff in the Democratic primary March 18.

"The sheriff's office has overburdened itself with the execution of warrants and subpoenas," Astorian said. "I would turn the system of serving warrants to the city departments for them to handle."

"I also intend to look into the feasibility of a process service division, freeing the deputies on patrol of this burden. This, of course, would take manpower from the patrol section, and I want to study the effectiveness of the present system before making a final determination."

A lieutenant colonel with the Granite City Police Department, Astorian has never held an elected position. He and his wife, Amelia Ann, live at 3240 Edgewood Ave.

Astorian, 48, graduated from the FBI National Academy in Quantico, Va., in 1979. He has a bachelor of arts degree in human services from Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville and an associate degree in law enforcement from Belleville Area College.

Astorian also proposes developing a highly-trained and diverse detective division to serve rural areas and assist city police departments.

He plans a study of response time on calls "to speed service and help to the remote areas of the county, and an examination of the most effective ways that we might utilize computerized systems to improve service."

Problems with the Madison County jail also need to be rectified, Astorian said.

"From my observations of the building and what I was told, there are two separate structures: an outer brick wall independent of the inner blocks and plastered wall," he said. "There is no evidence of deterioration to the outer structure, but there are cracks and flaking plaster on the inner walls. I believe these repairs can be made at a minimal cost."

"Another problem was simple routine maintenance and cleanliness. A little plaster, caulking and paint can again beautify the building," he added.

Astorian feels he is the most qualified candidate for sheriff.

"On the basis of education, experience and performance, I sincerely believe that I possess the best potential for expeditious handling of the responsibilities associated with the job of sheriff — or I would not be seeking the office," he said.

Robert Churchich

A "continued upgrading of the department through education and recruitment" is the promise of Bob Churchich, candidate for Madison County sheriff in the March 18 Democratic primary.

Churchich, 57, currently serves as Hartford police chief. His law enforcement experience includes 27 years as a police officer, 22 years in administration and five years as chief of police. He also serves on the Southern Illinois Law Enforcement Training Board and the advisory board.

He graduated from the University of Illinois Police Training Institute and the State Police Academy in Springfield.

He also serves on the Madison County Board.

"I will make every effort to increase patrols in unincorporated areas," Churchich said. "I will strive to get the merit board increased to five people to give more input into the hiring and promotion of deputies. This will also give more of a geographic representation."

"One of the issues I see is the way in which personnel are being used within the sheriff's department," he continued. "I will make a close evaluation of any positions that could be manned by civilian personnel to allow a deputy back on the street and on patrol."

But increasing manpower might not be easy, Churchich said.

"I fully understand, as a member of the county board and a police chief, the need to keep property taxes from rising and burdening our homeowners. Therefore, I don't believe that the present manpower level can be increased because of the threat of a burdensome tax increase."

"I will do my best and ask my men to give a little extra to protect our homeowners within the confines of a balanced county budget without a tax increase," he said. The condition of the Madison County jail also should be investigated, Churchich said.

"I would strive to have an unbiased engineering firm to assess and evaluate the problem with the jail and to report the findings directly to the Madison County Board," he said.

Churchich has been endorsed by Madison County Sheriff Emil Tofant, who is retiring.

Marty LeVault

Not satisfied with the current quality of law enforcement and services, Marty LeVault has filed to run in the March Democratic primary for Madison County sheriff. "I feel that the department under my administration could be run much more efficiently and provide better service than what is presently being provided," LeVault said.

LeVault, 39, of 34 Steelcrest Lane is a probation officer for the Madison County Probation Department. He has never held an elected office.

He served more than nine years as a deputy with the Madison County Sheriff's Department and was a member of the Greater St. Louis Major Case Squad.

He has an associate degree in law enforcement from Belleville Area College and a bachelor of science degree in administration of justice from the University of Missouri - St. Louis. He has administrative experience as a security supervisor with National Steel and as a manager of guard services at the U.S. Army St. Louis Area Support Center.

LeVault feels there are not enough patrol deputies.

"Approximately 35 percent of the commissioned deputies in the department have the rank of sergeant or above," he said. "Not only does this impact on salary budgets, but many of these officers perform clerical and administrative functions which could be performed by others so as to free up more deputies to perform patrol duties."

There is also an improper use of county vehicles, LeVault said.

"Present procedures in the department allow deputies of the rank of lieutenant and above to use the county vehicle for personal use at the taxpayers' expense. Several officers are provided county cars and basically are assigned to administrative positions in the office. This translates into the fact that the taxpayers are paying for a vehicle and its upkeep for an officer to transport himself back and forth to work," he said.

Raising the morale of the department will be LeVault's top priority, he said.

Regarding the jail, LeVault said a preventive maintenance program should be established.

"We have a $4.5 million jail facility that was actually obsolete at the time it was opened. Almost since the time of the opening we have exceeded the population for which the building was designed," he said.

LeVault suggests long-range planning to alleviate the jail problem and possibly contracting out the operation of the jail.

Beverly Smith

A waitress from Cottage Hills, Beverly Ellen Smith, is seeking the Democratic nomination in the March 18 primary for the office of Madison County sheriff.

The Democrat and the Republican nominated next month will meet in the November 1986 general election. Smith says she wishes to change the "visibility and relationship between the community and the sheriff's department" to provide more law enforcement to the county.

The 42-year-old candidate studied criminal law at Lewis and Clark Community College and is a licensed armed security guard. She has never held an elective public office.

Smith has no plans to expand the current sheriff's department.

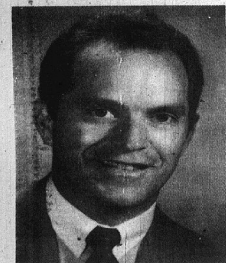

"It is not necessary to increase the manpower, only to better organize the patrol," she said.

As for repairs to the Madison County jail, Smith has no specific solutions.

"I am open to suggestions and will proceed according to save the taxpayers' money," she said.

Smith promises to provide information to the press unless the rights of the suspect would be put in jeopardy. She also favors allowing a person to hold more than one elected office.

Smith has been married for 26 years to her husband, Eddie, and has four children.

James Terry

If elected, James Terry would "completely eliminate an unnecessary and cumbersome level of administration in the sheriff's department," he said.

Terry is seeking the Democratic nomination for Madison County sheriff.

A deputy sheriff for the past 14 years, Terry said the administrative reorganization would save about $150,000 a year. That money would be put back into the department to increase the number of deputies on patrol, he said.

The current administration has placed a wall between the sheriff and the deputies on patrol," Terry said. "As sheriff, I will encourage easy access to the sheriff, both through the formal structure I've outlined and through informal means."

Maintenance may solve County jail's roof problem

Many leakage problems with the roof of the Madison County jail can be solved with proper maintenance, the Buildings Committee of the County Board was told last week.

Herbert "Junior" Milton, D-Granite City, said Feb. 10 he and the jail's architect inspected the roof Feb. 3. The roof has deteriorated because drains are clogged and water is allowed to collect, Milton said.

"WE FOUND everything from baseballs to peanuts up there," said Milton, chairman of the committee. "There must be two pickup loads of debris."

Sheriff Emil Toffant said he does not agree with the assessment and remains concerned.

"Regardless of drainage, that roof is still supposed to be waterproof," he said in an interview. "I just don't want to see something like this deteriorate."

Toffant last month told the Buildings Committee he fears structural problems and asked that an engineer evaluate the building.

THE ROOF LEAKS when it rains, and the jail walls and floors are developing cracks, Toffant said. Heating, cooling and ventilation systems also have problems, he said.

The reinforced-concrete building in Edwardsville was completed in 1980 at a cost of almost $5 million.

Following are some recommendations listed by Milton:

—Remove all debris from the roof. Gutters and drain openings should be cleared at least twice a year in November and May.

—PATCH AROUND VENTS on the roof and around pipes penetrating the roof. Fill in pockets of pitch and patch roof splits.

—Coat the roof with asphalt, add insulation to improve the drainage, flow, and replaster walls.

Milton said county maintenance personnel will clean and patch the roof. Gabriel recommended hiring roof experts for the final stages of repair.

Kelly J. Hogan to present program

Kelly J. Hogan, right worshipful district deputy for the grand master, AF&M of Illinois, will make his official visit to the Masonic Triple Lodge 835 on Wednesday, Feb. 19, at 8 p.m.

The meeting will be conducted in the Masonic Temple, 20th Street and Cleveland Boulevard.

Pay

teacher absences during January 1985 and only 215 during January 1986.

Most of the decline was in sick leave.

School Superintendent Max Redmond said more teacher incentives could be on the horizon for District 9 teachers.

Sheriff

Terry would institute a program called "quality circles," where employees are allowed to identify and find solutions to problems.

A modernization of the department also is needed, Terry said.

"We are currently keeping jail records on 3x5-inch index cards. Those cards can easily be stolen, lost or misfiled. If that happens, the retrieval of Madison County criminal history becomes impossible."

"That system needs to be revised. This can be done with a relatively inexpensive computer," he said.

A "paraprofessional" program also is planned by Terry. Non-officers could substitute for officers in non-criminal investigations. He cited court warrant, desk duties and minor traffic investigations as areas for civilian police personnel.

A system to review crime trends in Madison County also should be instituted, Terry said.

"Combined with an analysis of the type of crime, it can be used to allocate patrols and personnel to priority geographic and high-crime areas," he said.

Terry, of Edwardsville, is assigned to the Madison County State's Attorney's office as the principal liaison officer.

He has a bachelor of arts degree in police administration from McKendree College and an associate degree in criminal justice from Lewis and Clark Community College.

He also is an alderman in Edwardsville.

"THE JANUARY figures were much better than I ever anticipated," Redmond said. "I'm all for incentives."

"If you can establish realistic incentives you wind up with people doing good things for children in the classroom."

"I am opposed to merit pay because I feel the review is too subjective."

He has never held an elective office.

Voloski would provide information to the press, he said.

"Information on felony charges will be made available."

"Only information concerning an ongoing investigation, which may or can hinder that investigation, will not be released until the investigation is complete," he said.

Voloski is married and has four children.

Tom Voloski

The only Republican candidate in the primary election for Madison County sheriff, Tom Voloski has been a police officer for 15 years, including 10 years in uniform and five years as a detective.

Voloski is running for sheriff because of a "sincere desire to become the best sheriff Madison County has ever had or will have, and to provide the residents of Madison County with the type of law enforcement, protection, service and leadership no other sheriff has provided."

He pledges to "bring to the sheriff's department not only the educational background and necessary experience to be a leader, but the drive, stamina, ambition and eagerness to withstand the necessary pressures brought upon the modern-day sheriff," he said.

Voloski, 44, of 1605 Sixth St., Madison, has an associate degree in law enforcement.

He has attended the University of Illinois Police Training Institute and Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville, and completed University of Illinois Police Training Criminal Investigation courses.

He has been a member of the Greater St. Louis Major Case Squad for regional crime investigations, and has owned and operated Voloski Catering in Madison for 14 years. The firm operates a restaurant in Madison.

Sunning and sailing are popular pastimes on the tranquil west coast of Barbados

Caribbean cruising grounds hold lure of island paradise

Jamaica

This island comes close to paradise. Beautiful men and women splash in the warm Caribbean waters.

Visitors, led by native guides, climb up Dunn's River Falls, a splendid waterfall in Ocho Rios. Others drift slowly down a mountain river on a bamboo raft.

Tourists bargain for wood carvings and shop for hand made batik.

Others visit Rose Hall, a magnificent restored sugar plantation near Montego Bay. The great house once was home to a voodoo priestess, The White Witch of Rose Hall.

Others travel to the far end of the island to Port Antonio, nestled on twin harbors surrounded by tropical jungle.

Some opt for the free-wheeling casual lifestyle at Negril with its seven-mile stretch of sandy beach.

Puerto Rico

Some Americans feel more comfortable in Puerto Rico. The American flag flies over the island. American money is used. American laws are in force and most natives speak English, with a strong Spanish flair.

San Juan is the main destination of tourists and also the embarkation point of many Caribbean cruises.

Old San Juan, which dates back to the 1600s, is a walled section of the city and the main tourists attraction.

El Morro, an old Spanish fort open for tours, is situated on a rocky point and guards the entrance to the harbor with its rows of ancient cannons. Outside, town are long sand beaches rimmed by palm trees.

El Yunque is a mountainous national park with a tropical rain forest. A drive around the eastern end of the island takes visitors near rugged cliffs, along the coastline and through quaint fishing villages.

Cancun, Cozumel

The two Mexican islands lie just off the coast of the Yucatan peninsula and although they are modern resort areas, they have a distinctly Spanish appeal.

Cancun's powdery white beaches and turquoise-blue waters are perfect for skin divers and bathers.

Virgin Islands

This chain of volcanic islands east of Puerto Rico is split between United States and British rule. St. Thomas is the most popular destination in the Virgin Islands, with its picturesque harbor ringed by green hills. St. Thomas also is the only United States duty-free port, which makes it a shopper's mecca.

The waters around the island are crystal clear and perfect for diving. Sailing and fishing are favorite sports.

A warm cure for the winter blues

Feel the warm tropical breeze in Cancun. Bask in the sun in Puerto Rico. Hear the happy music of the tin drums of Jamaica.

The Caribbean is a popular destination for people who can beat the winter blues with an international escape. One of the factors to the Caribbean's wide appeal is the diversity of the islands: Dutch, Spanish, French, British and American cultures are represented. It is possible for a traveler to have one long stay, or slipping between the many islands on a cruise ship.

American's are definitely cruise crazy. Most cruises provide transportation for three to seven islands in one week, which allows first-timers a chance to sample as much as possible.

And a cruise ship is always home base while visiting the "foreign" islands. That can give some travelers a sense of security.

Others prefer to fly to one or two of the islands and explore their destinations in depth.

Barbados

The decidedly British Barbados are the most popular of the islands. The islands, which are in the Atlantic, not Caribbean ocean, are close to Miami. Their location makes a short trip or a midweek excursion attractive.

Nassau is a frequent stop for cruise ships and three to four lined along the harbor is a breathtaking sight.

Fort Fincastle provides a beautiful view of Nassau and the harbor from atop a hill.

Paradise Island across the harbor is an international resort and gambling center.

The other main attraction in the Bahamas is Freeport, a modern resort and residential complex also known for its shopping.

Almost 700 other islands can be explored by private boat or plane.

Barbados

Strong on British tradition, Barbados enjoys the reputation of being the most respectable island in the West Indies. It has been called the Little England of the Caribbean.

It is blessed with many of the tropical trappings of its neighboring islands, although it is less forested and lush as some. Much of the land is covered with sugar cane.

Activities include touring old plantation houses and English style churches, sailing, scuba diving and snorkeling.

A favorite spot to stay is Sam Lord's Castle, the mansion of a reputed 19th century pirate, which has been converted into a resort.

Gedrick follows path to film stardom

In the film Iron Eagle, Jason Gedrick plays an 18-year-old Air Force brat whose dad is a jet fighter pilot. Jason's character, Doug Masters, is determined to follow his dad's flight path.

The strong will of Gedrick's character is mirrored in the young actor's real life.

Gedrick's parents wanted him to get a degree in business at Drake University. But Jason had other ideas.

After a short time at Drake, he went against his parents' advice and headed for California and a career in acting.

His fascination with show business stemmed from his childhood. Gedrick, a native of Chicago, remembers only two ambitions: to be a comedian or a football player.

He discovered his interest in performing during his last two years in high school. He had the opportunity to land a small role in a movie being made in the Chicago area.

After working in several school productions, Gedrick landed small roles in the films Dr. Detroit and Risky Business while attending Drake.

Gedrick took a lot of chances at an early age to become an actor. But he said he is happy with his career decision.

"Looking back on it," Gedrick said, "I think it's the best thing that could have ever happened to me. Acting is the ultimate job for anyone. But that doesn't mean I want to neglect my education."

"I believe that acting is about educating yourself in everything and what could be a better way to live life? Every scene you do, you can find some kind of humanity in it. You reveal the human condition. You bring nature into it. You can understand art and bring elements of that into your portrayal. It's getting to really understand people and bring that understanding to your performances."

"I think acting is giving me a whole path and direction to live my life, which I didn't have in high school or even college. To become an actor is the only decision I could and should have made. And I think my parents see what kind of dedication I'm putting into it and they're backing me now, and they weren't doing that before."

Prior to Iron Eagle, Gedrick had a principal role in The Heavenly Kid, a film that flopped at the box office and received uniformly poor notices.

But now, even with the success of Iron Eagle, Gedrick is very cautious and realistic about his financial prospects.

"One film doesn't make you a millionaire. It definitely doesn't even make you rich. Financially, I don't consider myself well-off or even above average. To me right now, money is not the most important thing. I want to keep working and I want to keep creating. I believe acting is creating and I want to work with material that will utilize my imagination so that I can create as an artist."

There is one bit of hype that Gedrick can't escape. With the success of Iron Eagle, he has become a teen heart throb. However, Gedrick keeps it in perspective.

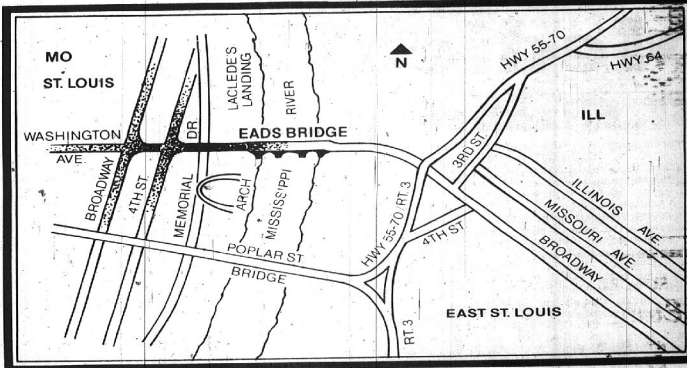

"I think it means that people want to relate to people on the screen, to the super realistic images they see. You're bigger than life when you're 90 feet high. I think it's great that people can communicate with me."

From convenient approaches in Illinois, Eads Bridge places the automobile driver at the heart of Downtown St. Louis.

NERVES SHATTERED... TIRED OF PARKING ON BRIDGES, WASTING GASOLINE, AND MONEY...

Then take the fast, direct, economical route from Illinois Communities to Downtown St. Louis Eads Bridge, one of the world's greatest engineering feats, is undergoing major renovation, making it one of the best and most convenient Mississippi River crossings into and out of the St. Louis area.

For the business person or shopper traveling over the river in either direction, Eads Bridge offers an excellent alternative to other bridges entering the St. Louis area.

Eads Bridge will provide a fast, less congested route between Illinois and Missouri, with an overall saving in time and money, even at a modest 50¢ toll for automobiles, 60¢ for pickup trucks.

Traffic patterns show how well the bridge serves not only local traffic, but also users of Interstate Highways 55, 70 and 64.

It has been estimated that even at times of morning and evening congestion, a typical Eads Bridge user may save daily as much as 20 minutes in each direction and a dollar in gasoline expenses, once rehabilitation work is completed.

WORK BEING DONE

To further speed traffic, four modern toll collection stations have been installed on the west end of the bridge—two serving in each direction. One station in each direction is automatic, providing for collection of tolls without a stop. A second station is manned by a toll collector for the convenience of those not having the correct change.

Entering St. Louis at the foot of Washington Avenue, Eads Bridge is an ideal gateway to the main shopping and business centers in downtown St. Louis, where ample parking is available.

Opened to traffic in July, 1874, Eads Bridge was designed to carry trains and vehicular traffic. The first major bridge across the Mississippi River, it has survived the test of time and is today as sturdy and dependable as when it was built.

St. Elizabeth's plans ten new nurse refresher courses

The Nursing Education Department of St. Elizabeth Medical Center, 2100 Madison Ave., is offering 10 continuing education courses for nurses interested in enhancing their profession.

A course designed for those nurses involved in the basic fundamentals of EKG tracings and their interpretation, "Basic EKG interpretation for Nurses," began Feb. 4 and will meet every Tuesday through April 22. The class will again be offered June 24 through Sept. 16. Both sessions are from 8 a.m. to 10 a.m. and have been submitted to the Illinois Nurses Association (INA) for renewal of contact hours.

Designed for nurses with no previous experience in managing ventilator patients, "Comprehensive Care of the Ventilator Patient" provides the knowledge and skill necessary to safely and effectively manage a ventilator-dependent patient. A mini-lab session offers participants "hands-on" experience in circuit building and in troubleshooting possible ventilation management problems. The class meets March 14, May 30, July 18 or Aug. 15, from 8:30 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. and is INA-approved for eight contact hours.

Scheduled to meet April 17, Aug. 21 and Nov. 13, "Perinatal Nursing — Meeting the Challenge," was developed for nurses currently employed on an obstetrical unit to increase their knowledge and skills with fetal monitoring and maternal complications. The class meets from 7:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m., and is INA approved for nine contact hours.

Designed to assist the professional nurse in identification of patients' responses to altered health patterns, "Nursing Diagnosis — Mark of a Professional" follows the list of nursing diagnoses accepted at the Fifth National Conference in 1982. The class meets April 14, Aug. 11 or Oct. 13, from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m., and is INA-approved for seven contact hours.

The "Swan Ganz/Pacemaker Workshop," a hands-on workshop designed for those nurses requiring basic skills and knowledge of hemodynamic monitoring equipment and temporary/permanent pacemakers, meets on May 16 and again on Oct. 17, from 8 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Application for contact hours has been made to the INA.

Open to nurses who have successfully completed a basic EKG course, "Advanced Dysrhythmia and 12-lead EKG Interpretation for Nurses" allows participants to describe a systematic approach to the practical interpretation of advanced EKG readings, identify criteria necessary for recognition of advanced dysrhythmias, and compare and contrast criteria for interpreting both normal and abnormal 12-lead EKG readings.

Provided through the cooperative efforts of the critical care and nursing education staffs, this class meets every Thursday, May 8 through July 24, from 8 a.m. to 10 a.m. A second session will be held Sept. 25 through Dec. 18. Both sessions have been INA-approved for 17 contact hours.

"Current Trends in Obstetrical Care" is designed for nurses who provide care and services to obstetrical patients, whether in a hospital OB unit, an OB clinic, physicians' offices, or childbirth education classes.

Current research and practice regarding various topics are addressed with practical implications for nursing offered. Submitted to the INA for approval of contact hours, this class meets from 8 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. on five separate occasions, May 1, May 29, Sept. 11, Sept. 25 or Oct. 16.

An all-day course designed for medical-surgical nurses practicing within a non-monitored setting, the "Pulmonary Assessment Course" helps participants identify early signs and symptoms of respiratory distress based on inspection/auscultation assessments and related clinical findings.

To register or for more information on these and other educational opportunities, the SEMC Nursing Education Department can be called at 798-3485.

Physician to discuss allergies, schizophrenia

"It's Not All in Your Head" will be the theme of an address by Dr. Tipu Sultan of Granite City at the American Schizophrenia Association meeting at Ladue Chapel, Clayton Road, St. Louis, on Thursday, Feb. 27, at 7:30 p.m.

For years, it has been believed by both physicians and lay people that most mental illnesses have a psychological origin. Observations over the years, however, have made it apparent this is not so and that, in fact, a substantial number of psychiatric disorders have physical causes, often related to allergies.

"Studies done with hyperactive children involving diet and sensitivities to food additives have clearly demonstrated the relationship between psychological problems and allergy," Dr. Sultan said.

"Spectacular results have been reported from Russia, where, in a test which obviously could not be duplicated in this country, 10,000 mental patients were put on a fast for a substantial period of time. During the fast, 50 percent of the schizophrenics lost their symptoms, again pointing up the relationship between food allergy and mental illness."

Dr. Sultan has spent years investigating these relationships.

Awareness could curb drug abuse

Although alcohol and drug abuse was at its most visible peak in the late 1960s, drug dependency is still thriving — a trend which concerns nearly everyone in Illinois today. In the past seven years, cocaine usage has grown dramatically and in 1984 cocaine-related deaths increased by 60 percent nationwide.

Twenty-seven percent of today's youth have tried marijuana and half of all people admitted to public abuse-treatment centers are narcotics abusers.

The problem, directly or indirectly, affects everyone. The families of substance abusers and all of society pay a high toll in psychological, physical and health care costs; loss of productivity and wages; increased health care bills; accidents causing injury and death; and violence and crimes to support drug habits.

By the time these consequences surface, a substance abuser has likely developed a strong, ingrained habit. Unfortunately, the obstacle in early treatment of abusers is that symptoms and signs of abuse are often covered up or unrecognized by families, friends and physicians.

Authorities say health care consumers and doctors need to join forces in working to combat growing substance abuse and dependency. All are urged to become familiar with specific drug types and how they alter the physical and psychological behavior of substance abusers. Heightened awareness is seen as allowing concerned relatives and friends to seek a physician's help before more serious problems develop.

Illinois physicians have recently undertaken a new training program to recognize the hidden signs of drug abuse while treating patients. In June 1984, the Illinois State Medical Society (ISMS) and Illinois Department of Alcoholism and Substance Abuse (DASA) began working together to implement an educational program for physicians who encounter patient substance abusers.

What should we look for when trying to determine if a spouse, family member, friend, co-worker or other associate is a substance abuser? Recognizing substance abuse is difficult because intoxication and withdrawal symptoms vary with the specific drug abused. Yet, anyone concerned about a suspected drug abuser should look for specific physical changes which usually suggest the misuse of chemical substances.

Sudden changes in pupil size and body temperature, slurred speech, poor coordination, sweating, persistent tiredness or insomnia, change in heart or blood pressure or extreme weight loss may be indications of drug dependency.

Needle marks on the arm, in the ankle or behind the knee may also be indications. Since many addicts inject each other, track marks may also be found in unlikely spots such as the neck or the feet.

Often, people are unaware of the psychological effects connected with substance abuse. Again, these vary according to the drug abused.

Prolonged drug usage can cause anxiety reactions, paranoia, delusions, hallucinations and loss of memory. Those concerned that someone they know may be a substance abuser should note that the health risk is higher for abusers suffering hypertension, seizure disorders, pregnancy, diabetes and cardiac problems.

Microwave cooking

Meatball dinner

2 lb. lean ground chuck
1 cup finely chopped onion
1 egg
3 tbsp. fine dry bread crumbs
1 tsp. finely chopped parsley
1 tsp. salt
1/2 tsp. pepper

Combine beef, onion, egg, bread crumbs, parsley, salt and pepper in a large mixing bowl. Mix lightly.

Shape into balls 1 to 1 1/2 inches in diameter.

Arrange 15 to 18 balls at a time on a microwave roasting rack in a 2-quart (12-by-8 inch) dish. Cover loosely with plastic wrap.

Cook at full power 6 to 7 minutes, or until meat is cooked as desired. Meatballs may need to be rearranged halfway through cooking time. Drain. Repeat with remaining meatballs.

Makes 30 to 36 meatballs.

To serve immediately, combine half the cooked meatballs with a sweet-sour sauce or spaghetti sauce to serve over hot cooked pasta or rice.

To freeze: Cool meatballs in refrigerator. Divide into two batches. Package each batch in heavy-duty plastic wrap. Seal, label and freeze.

To defrost and heat: Place 2 pints spaghetti or tomato sauce in a 2-quart casserole. Add meatballs. Cover loosely with plastic. Heat at full power 15 to 18 minutes, or until heated through. Serve over hot, cooked spaghetti.

The main dish:

MEATBALLS MADE EASY. These meatballs take just seven minutes to cook in a standard microwave oven. This week's recipe will make 36 meatballs and comes with instructions for freezing what you and your family don't eat.

Try chocolate fudge treats

3 cups sugar
1/2 cup milk
2 tbsp. corn syrup
2 squares (1 oz. each) unsweetened chocolate
1 tsp. margarine
1 tsp. vanilla

Grease 8-inch square pan. In heavy 3-quart saucepan stir together sugar, milk, corn syrup and chocolate. Stirring constantly, cook over medium heat until mixture boils. Continue cooking, stirring occasionally, until temperature reaches 238° on candy thermometer or until small amount of mixture dropped into very cold water forms a soft ball which flattens on removal from water.

Remove from heat. Add margarine and vanilla. Do not stir. Cool to lukewarm (110°).

Beat until fudge begins to thicken and begins to lose its gloss. Quickly pour into prepared pan. Cool. Cut into squares. Makes 1 1/2 pounds.

1 tsp. vanilla
1/2 cup quartered maraschino cherries

Combine bananas, pineapple, 1/2 cup sugar and lemon juice in flat metal pan. Mix well.

Place in freezer until ice crystals form around edges, about 2 hours.

Whip cream until soft peaks form. Beat in 1/2 cup sugar and vanilla. Makes 10 (1/2-cup) servings.

AROUND THE CORNER

BY STEVE KONKOVICH
Around the corner, I have a friend
In this great city that has no end.
Yet, days go by, and weeks rush on
And before I know it a year is gone.
And I never see my old friend's face,
For life is a swift and terrible race.
He knows I like him just as well
As in the days when I rang his bell
And he rang mine. We were younger then
And now we are busy, tired men.
Tired and playing a foolish game,
Tired with trying to make a name.
"Tomorrow," I say, "I will call on Jim."
Just to show that I am thinking of him—
But tomorrow comes and tomorrow goes
And the distance between us grows and grows.
Around the corner, yet miles away,
Here is a telegram, sir: Jim died today.
And that's what we get, and deserve in the end.
Around the corner, a vanished friend.

GCC starts job placement plan

Belleville Area College's (BAC) Granite City campus (GCC) has initiated a five-month job placement program with assistance from the Illinois Department of Employment Security (IDES) in Granite City.

The program, which began Feb. 1 and runs through June 30, will provide job opportunities for GCC students and graduates, assisting them in choosing or changing career objectives, said Ray Moddrell, coordinator of the program and GCC dean of student development and counseling.

"This placement program will show our students that the Granite City Campus doesn't just care about students coming in. It also cares how they leave," Moddrell said.

"The goal of this program is not only to help students find part-time employment but also to help graduates find full-time employment," said Darrel Stites, employment security program analyst for IDES's Southwest Region office.

"We encourage all employers in the Granite City area to list their job vacancies at GCC."

Jenna Johannpeter, GCC educational specialist and management and marketing instructor, is assisting Jack Kimball of IDES as a program implementer. Kimball will be at the Granite City Campus eight to 12 hours a week.

Johannpeter and Kimball coordinate GCC students' searches for full- and part-time employment, Moddrell said. They contact area employers about posting job vacancies at GCC.

"The program will serve as an extension of the classroom," Johannpeter (931-0600) said. "We'll work hard to match students' abilities with an employer's job needs. It also will be a good way to measure if we are teaching the right courses at BAC."

Speech finalists

Illinoisans' opposition to levee is growing

Illinois opponents of the controversial L-15 Levee in Missouri have a congressman and a state senator on their side after a meeting in Elkhart, Mo., last week.

Cong. Richard Durbin, D-Springfield, and State Sen. Vince Iannuzzi, D-Carlinville, attended the informational meeting at the Elkhart Museum.

About 36 people, members of area groups opposed to the L-15 Levee plan, met with the elected officials.

DURBIN SAID, "I do not look favorably on the L-15 development."

Demuzio said he would try to introduce legislation to give Illinois more input in projects involving the state's rivers.

Durbin, a member of the House Appropriations Committee, said money has been earmarked for the Kansas City District of the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers to prepare a formal study and construction proposal.

THE GRAMM-RUDMAN federal deficit reduction plan probably won't hinder access of funds for the Corps, he said, the Corps is in the jurisdiction of the Pentagon, and President Ronald Reagan has proposed increased spending for military departments.

If eventually approved, the levee would be built along the Missouri River, from north of St. Charles, Mo., to the confluence of the Mississippi River and then north to Portage des Sioux, Mo.

Proponents, mostly Missouri farmers and legislators, feel it could reduce flooding and protect farmland.

OPPOSITION FEAR the levee would divert more flood water to Illinois, hurt wildlife and natural recreation spots, and hinder development of riverfront areas, especially Alton.

Durbin said the levee is not considered a controversial issue in Washington. However, it is expected to draw more attention when funding is sought for the estimated $30 million project.

Durbin said he would try to arrange a formal public hearing with the Corps in Illinois.

There have been hearings in Missouri, but the Kansas City branch of the Corps has not held any in Illinois since its jurisdiction is limited to the Missouri side of the Mississippi River.

DEMUZIO SAID said he would work to repeal an Illinois law which gives the St. Louis branch of the Corps final jurisdiction over matters involving local Illinois waterways and shorelines.

"I will look into the merits of seeing if it can be repealed," he said. If Demuzio is successful, Illinois lawmakers could be afforded more of a voice in the L-15 issue, he said.

Demuzio feels it is unlikely any such legislation could be introduced this year, but he pledged to work on the matter.

David Pfeiffer of Pride Inc. said there are aspects of the L-15 project which have not been fully addressed.

HE QUESTIONED whether costs of the levee would balance with benefits expected to be received by Missouri farmers.

Pfeiffer also said the levee would restrict and increase the force of river waters, which could pose a severe threat to property south of Alton all the way to the Gulf of Mexico.

County may donate land to humane group

Madison County officials are considering donating land where a humane center could be built. But some animal control building.

County Board Member Michael Semanin, D-Maryville, is investigating whether the county can give land for a humane society building to be run by volunteers.

Chairman of the board's Animal Health Committee, he is consulting with State's Attorney Dick Allen and researching how various humane societies operate.

Ledy VanKavage, an organizer of the Madison County Coalition Against Pound Seizure, said an adoption program should be started now.

Raising funds and building a center "would take too much time."

she said. The animal control center on Marine Road has adequate space to handle an adoption program, she said.

"To start a humane society, all you need is a desk and a phone," she said, saying a separate building might be possible in five to 10 years but is not necessary.

The coalition was formed a month ago to protect county sales of stray animals for medical research. The

'Give fish a home' drive at K mart

Over 2,100 K mart stores across the U.S. will give customers an opportunity to "give a fish a home."

Beginning Feb. 15, K mart will kick off a major membership campaign on behalf of the FishAmerica Foundation (FAF). The non-profit organization funds projects for the protection and enhancement of North American waterways and fisheries.

Maxwell Parsons, president of K mart Enterprises, the sporting goods and automotive division of K mart Corp., urged the public to visit any K mart Sports Center and pick up an application to join the FAF.

"For $5, you can become a member and receive an FAF patch and for $10 or more you will get an FAF fishing cap, acknowledging your support," he said.

"FAF membership provides sports enthusiasts with a chance to give something back to the environment," said Parsons.

Goals are to combat the shrinking fish population and clean up waterways.

K mart has provided support for the FishAmerica Foundation since it was created in 1983. In three years, K mart has donated over $75,000 to FAF. The company is the nation's leading retailer of fishing tackle equipment.

Matmen win regional; 10 to sectional

By GREGG OCHOA
Executive Sports Editor
EDWARDSVILLE — It was only fitting that the Granite City coaching staff chose the regional meet to wear their new red sweaters with the Indian on it.

For on this day, Granite City was the class of the meet. The Warriors won their 28th regional in the district's history and qualified 10 of 12 individuals for this weekend's sectionals to be held at Granite City.

"Everybody wrestled real well," said Granite City Coach Walt Whitaker. "We got a lot of points from several different people."

Granite City totaled 17 1/2 points, easily outdistancing runner-up Bethalto (11 1/2). Collinsville was third (9 1/2), followed by Edwardsville (9), Roxana (9 1/2), Triad (8 1/2), Wood River (5 1/2), Jerseyville (5 1/2) and Highland (4).

Whitaker can trace the Warriors' growth this season to one day — Jan. 18.

"We went over to the Hazelwood Quad and beat teams that were rated," he said. "We won 9 of 13 matches from Wentzville and about the same from Hazelwood. I think we regained a lot of confidence after that meet."

Warrior wrestlers won four weight classes. Regional champions were Brent Davis (98), Gary Mann (112), Tom Sparks (145) and Mike Fenoglio (155).

Second place finishers were Tracy Morrison (126), Dennis Gabriel (138) and Ross Karbaski (HWT). Brett Carnor (119), Rich Wilson (132) and Paul Brandt (167) all placed third.

The top three individuals in each weight class qualify for the sectionals.

As a team, the Warriors were to compete in the team part of the sectional on Tuesday against the winner of the Herrin regional. Both semifinals and finals were to be held on Tuesday with the team champion advancing to the state tournament in Champaign.

The other Metro East team still alive is Belleville East. The Lancers easily won the regional at Cahokia.

Granite City virtually had the team title locked up after the first day of competition as 10 Warriors advanced to either championship or third place bouts.

"We had several guys really come through," Whitaker said. "Ross Karbaski had a real good weekend and for him making it all the way to the finals could be considered somewhat of a surprise."

Karbaski needed a strong effort to reach the finals. He beat Collinsville's Frank Clapp in the semis. Yet another qualifier, Rich Wilson, kept his season going with a last second 6-4 win over Roxana's Matt Avramovich.

The match was tied 4-4 with :34 left when Wilson scored two points on a reversal to ice the match.

"He was trying to turn the arm," Wilson said. "I just set myself and rolled with it. He had beat me last year using that move and I was kind of worried about it."

Wilson had a scare in the first round and almost was eliminated. Trailing CM's Steve Freiner 8-0 with 40 seconds left in the match, Wilson regrouped to pin the Eagle wrestler. Wilson's accomplishment is even more satisfying because he is giving up as much as 10 pounds to his opponents.

"Sometimes it can be really tough, especially on bottom," he said. "If the guy knows how to use his weight, he can really cause a lot of problems."

Paul Brandt was another third place finisher. He too was trailing late in his match when he was awarded one technical point when his opponent grabbed Brandt's knee pad. That, coupled with two back points, enabled Brandt to win the match.

As expected, Granite City also got some top flight performances in the title bouts.

Davis, the 98-pound freshman, won his weight class over Jason Slayden of Roxana. He improved his record to 31-4.

"I never really thought this would happen," Davis said of his first year on the Warrior varsity. "I was nervous before the match, but I'm always nervous. I think it helps me."

Gary Mann beat Roxana's Chad Hamilton and won the 112-pound championship.

"I lost last year in the semifinals in overtime. I ended up third," Mann said. "I really wanted (regionals) this year."

Mann (23-8-2) just missed a trip to Champaign last year, losing 3-2 to Belleville East's Craig Schwab in the third place bout at the sectional meet.

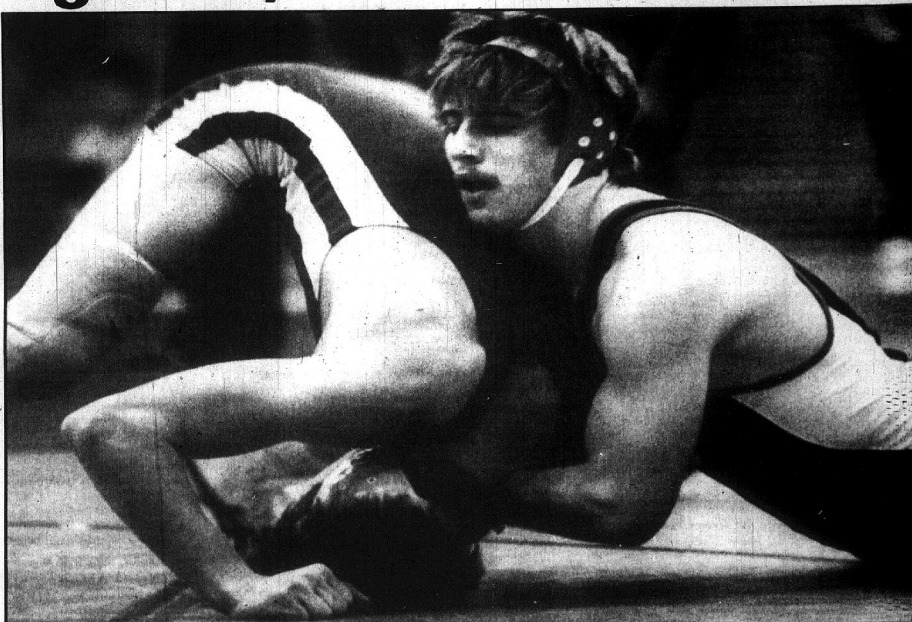

Now, Mann has set his goals on going to state.

"I know it's going to be tough, but I'm at the same weight I was last year," he said.

At 126, Morrison ran into Roxana's Eric Roberson, who extended his unbeaten streak to 34-0. In the end, Roberson was just too tough.

At 138, the Warriors almost had

Wooden Shoes step on Trojans

By GARY KING

MADISON—Madison coach Rodney Watson is not what one would call a "good loser" by nature. It has not been too customary for the second-year coach to speak dejectedly of what could've, and perhaps should've, been done differently after Trojan losses. But after watching his squad fall to Teutopolis on Saturday evening, Watson had little remorse.

"We played hard tonight, but Teutopolis is a fine team. I give them a lot of credit," conceded the Trojan coach after his charges had dropped a 74-64 decision to the Wooden Shoes.

And if there has ever been good reason for a team to hold their head high after a loss, the Trojans should. Sporting the No. 1 ranking in Illinois Class 'A' basketball, and an unblemished 24-0 mark, the Wooden Shoes took the court for Saturday's showdown little realizing that they were in for a dogfight.

Things went well for Teutopolis in the early going, as center Ted Weissing led off the contest with three straight buckets to give his squad a 6-0 advantage. The Trojans were not so fortunate, as it took them two and a half minutes, and five missed attempts before they were able to post their first points of the evening on a Lennott Johnson jumper.

Just when it appeared that Teutopolis would be able to ice the contest early, Johnson's hot hand again brought the Trojans back from the ranks of the almost-dead when he sank a pair of jumpers which drew his squad to within, three, 15-12, at the end of the first quarter.

After maintaining a three point edge for the opening two minutes of the second stanza, the Wooden Shoes blitzed Madison with a 13-2 run which allowed them to carry a 34-20 lead into the intermission.

The Wooden Shoes captured their biggest lead of the game late in the third period when they went up 50-32; however, the Trojans went on a late 7-2 spurt which helped narrow their deficit to 13 by the quarter's end.

It appeared as though Madison might be able to catch Teutopolis when they opened the final eight minutes with a flurry.

Offensively, it was Trojan guard Darrell Marshall who provided the spark, as he poured in three straight baskets in the opening minute of the quarter. On the other end of the floor it was 6-4 center Eric Jacks who was taking care of business by putting on a stellar defensive performance.

On one sequence Jacks hammered a jumper by Weissing to the backboard, and then whipped a nifty outlet pass downcourt to Marshall for an easy lay-up. On Teutopolis' ensuing trip down the floor the Trojan center rejected a top of the key shot back to halfcourt, thus allowing Marshall another breakaway bucket which closed the gap to 52-43.

However, Teutopolis was able to regain some of their lost momentum, and the Trojan threat ended when Jacks fouled out midway through the quarter after scoring eight points, picking up 10 rebounds and blocking five shots.

Watson felt that Jacks probably had the toughest assignment of the night in trying to contain the Wooden Shoe's 6-5 center Ted Weissing, who earned game scoring honors with 25 points.

"Weissing did a job on us in the first half. He's a fine player, and his teammates were doing a superb job of getting him the ball. Jacks had a tough assignment in trying to stop him, but I was real pleased with the way he responded. He got in some foul trouble early, but I thought he played a very strong game," said Watson.

Although Madison finished the evening with three more field goals than the Wooden Shoes, the difference in the contest was free-throws. The Trojans were able to hit 14 of their 20 attempts from the charity-stripe; however, Teutopolis more than doubled that number with 30 from the line.

Despite the loss, Watson remains optimistic.

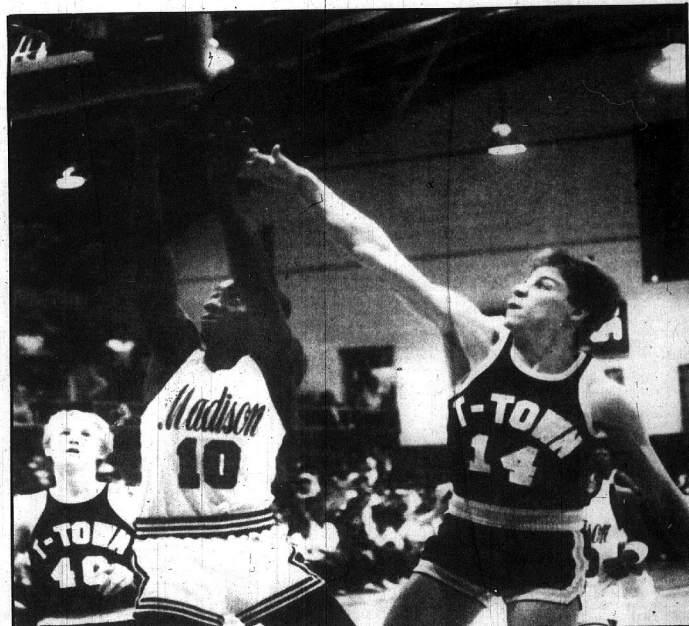

"As a team I'd have to say we're really close right now. We forced Teutopolis to turn the ball over 18 times in the first half, and I doubt they usually make that many turnovers during a whole game. But we countered by turning it over 18 times. We just need to learn how to capitalize on the other team's mistakes."

Madison was to begin post-season play yesterday by facing Assumption in the DuPo Regional. Watson emphasized that the success of his squad in the "second season" will depend on their rebounding, ballhandling and defense.

Based on Saturday night's performance, the Trojans better not be taken too lightly in the post-season. If they are, they might just end up in Champaign... again.
